ADMINISTRATION

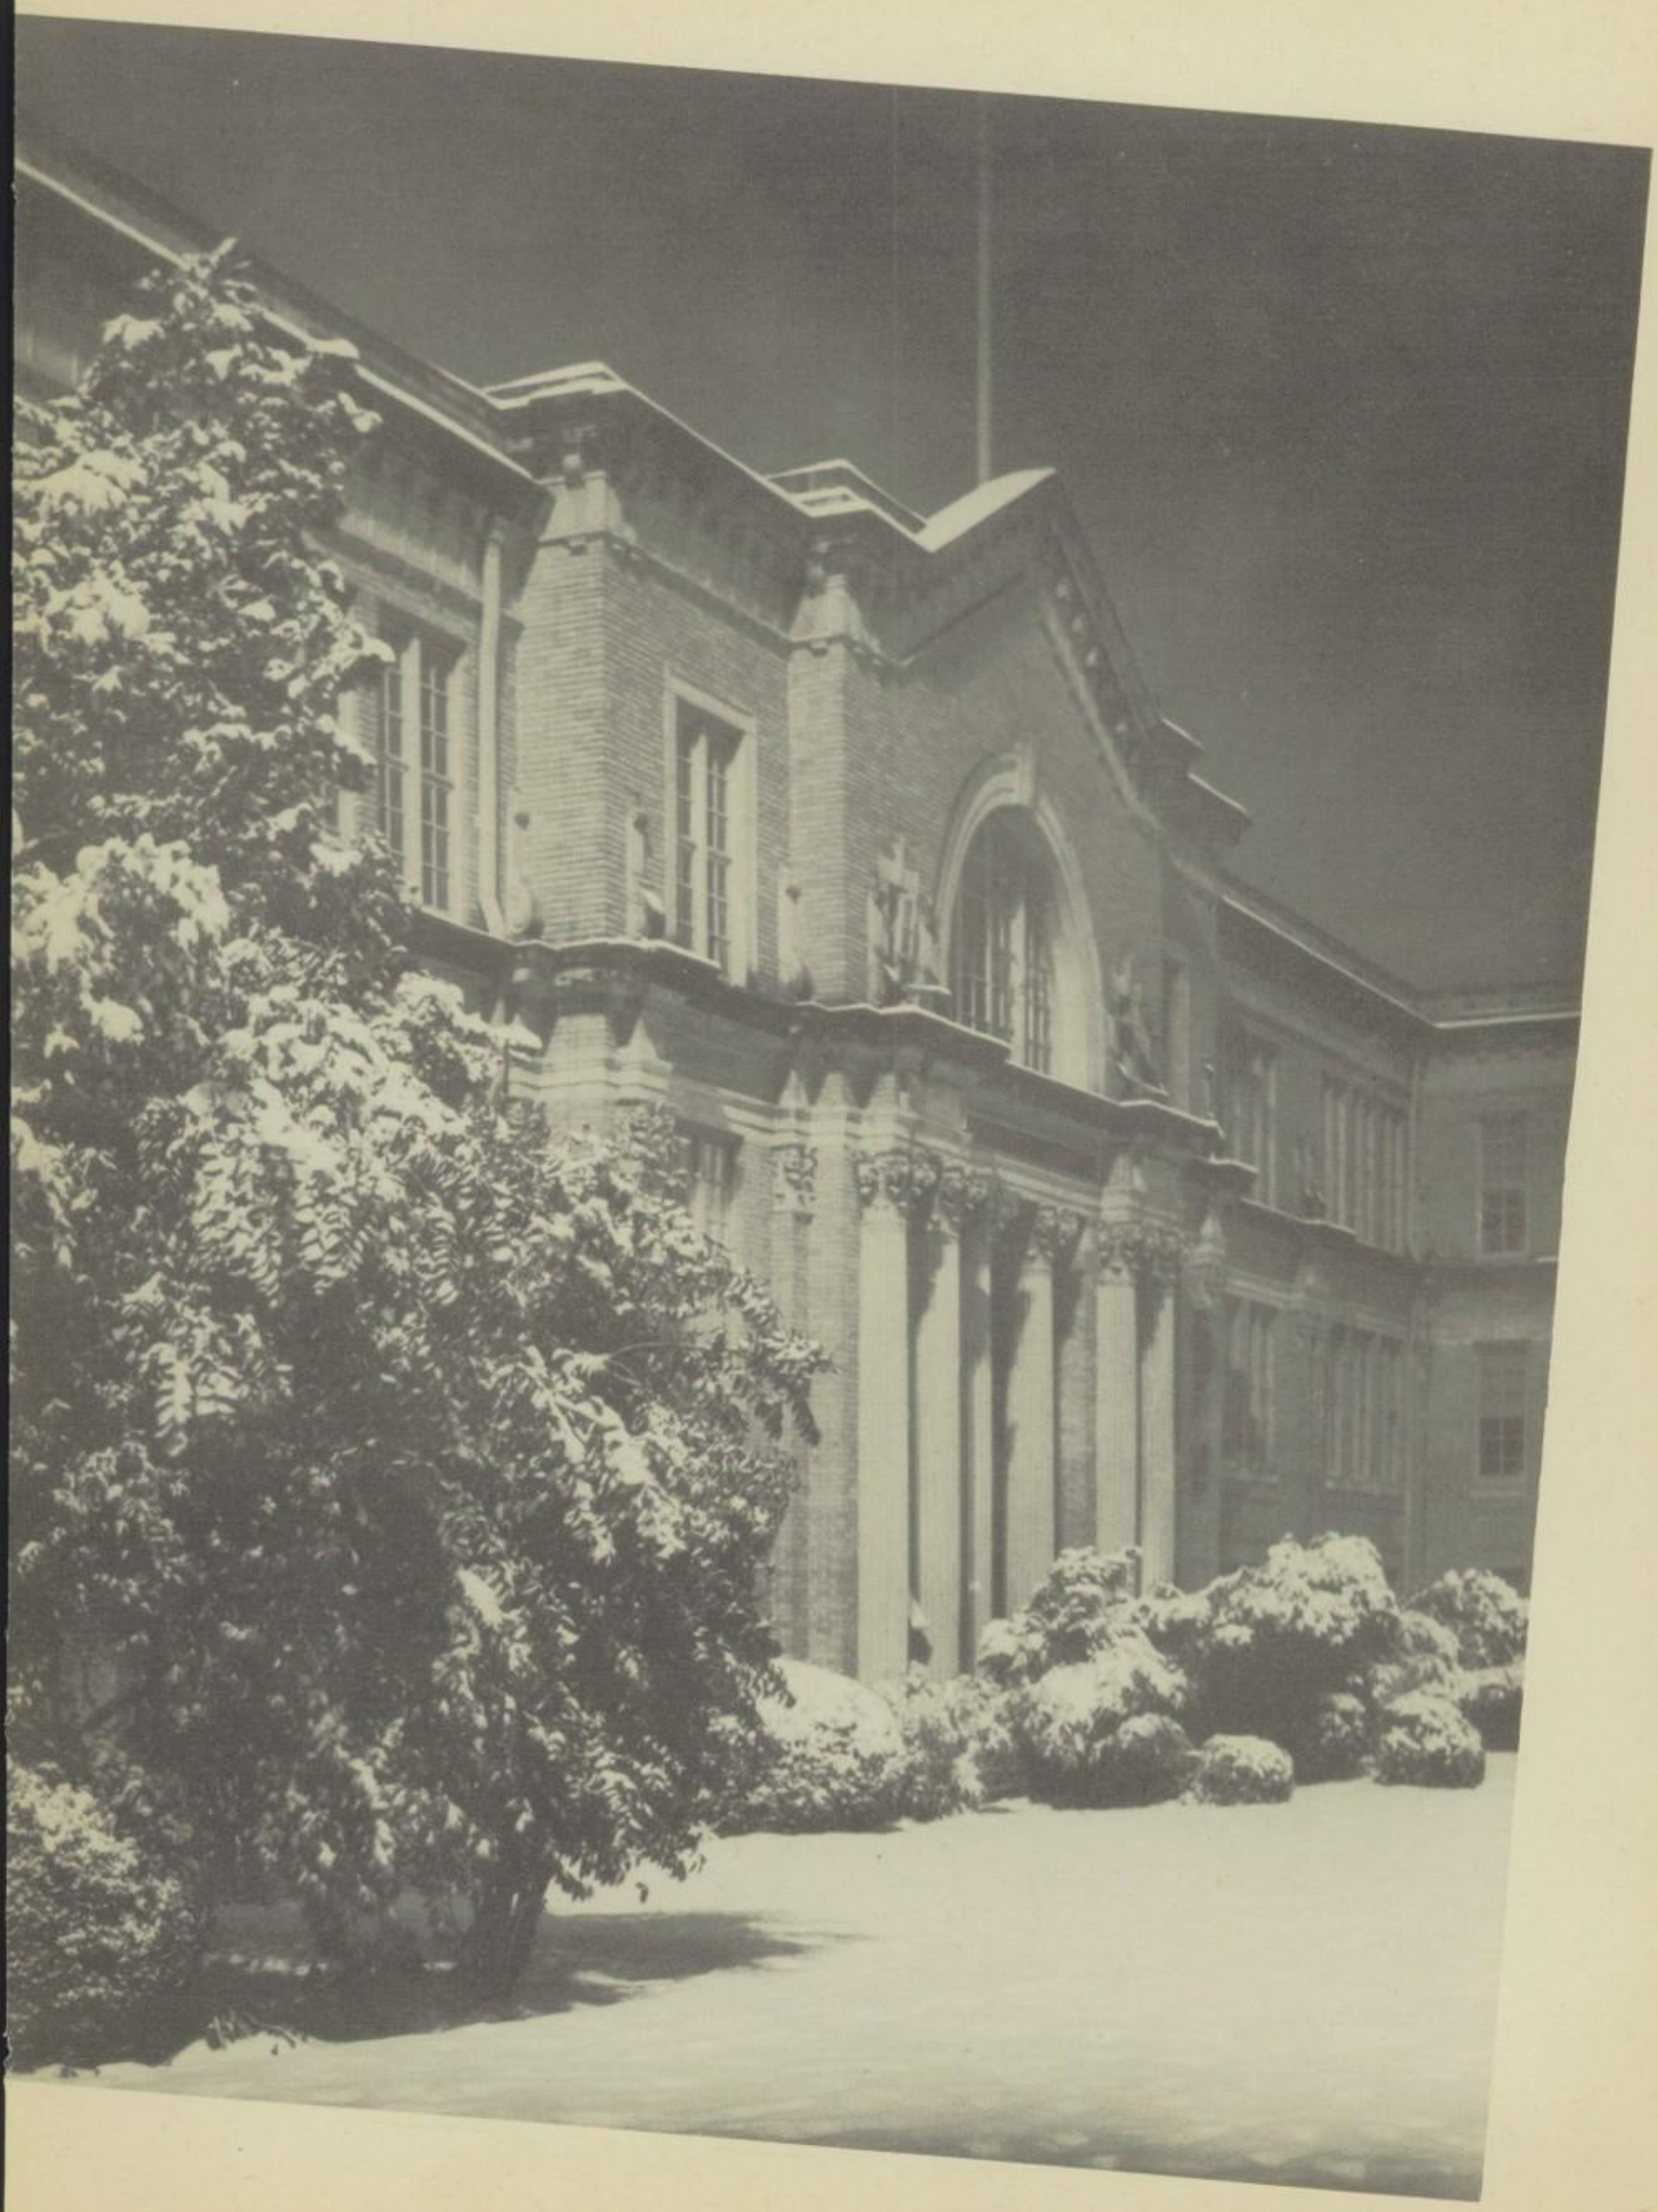
With ideas unexpressed, strength untried, ambition undefined, tomorrow's citizen trusts in the wisdom of those who plan and guide. Before him lies the promise of experiences fruitful with effort, learning, and accomplishment.



Feb. 14, 1944

To the Graduates of Austin High School:

This has been a momentous year in the annals of world history. Possibly no class of seniors in the Austin High School has been so challenged by the many problems of a war-torn world. On the other hand, you have been inspired by the sacrifice and selfless devotion to the Christian ideal of the men and women serving and fighting and dying in the defense of our country.

The gameness with which you have faced the peculiar uncertainties of the times has been encouraging to all of us who "stand on the sidelines" and wish you well. You have lived and planned and played with such resoluteness that we feel sure that our country will be in safe and capable hands when it becomes yours to take over the helm.

I hope for each of you the best of everything in the years that lie ahead.

Sincerely,

Russell A. Lewis

Superintendent of Schools

Mrs. A. P. Robinson, Mrs. Hal P. Bybee, Mrs. Rex D. Hopper, Mr. Carl T. Widen, Mr A. C. Bull, Mr. E. W. Jackson, Mr. L. H. Blenderman.

In the experiences and problems that appear on each new horizon there will be found opportunities for personal development, for service, and for achievement, which will challenge every student to the utmost. To the teacher and counselor there is as great a challenge in the opportunity to aid, to encourage, to stimulate, and to direct the student facing for the first time the New Horizons.

The counselors accept the challenge.

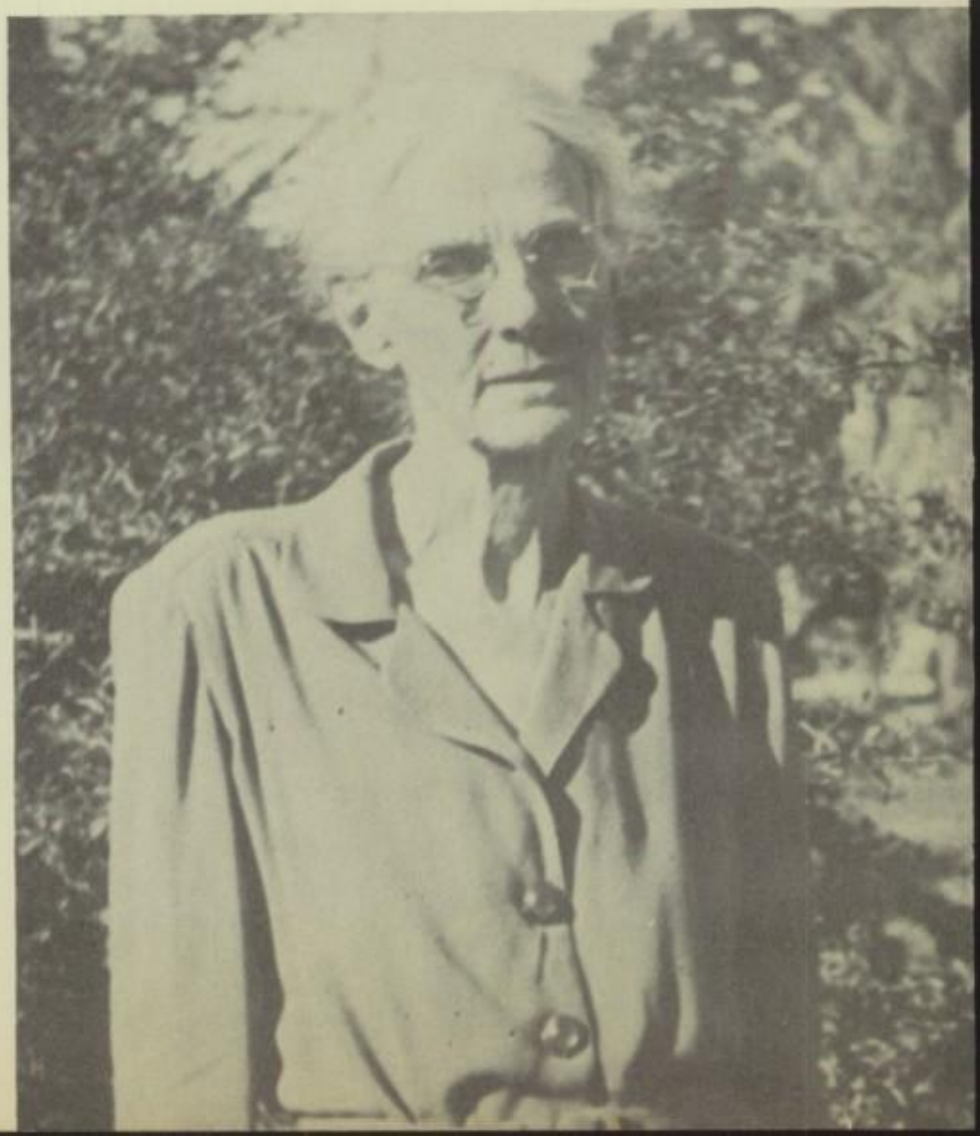
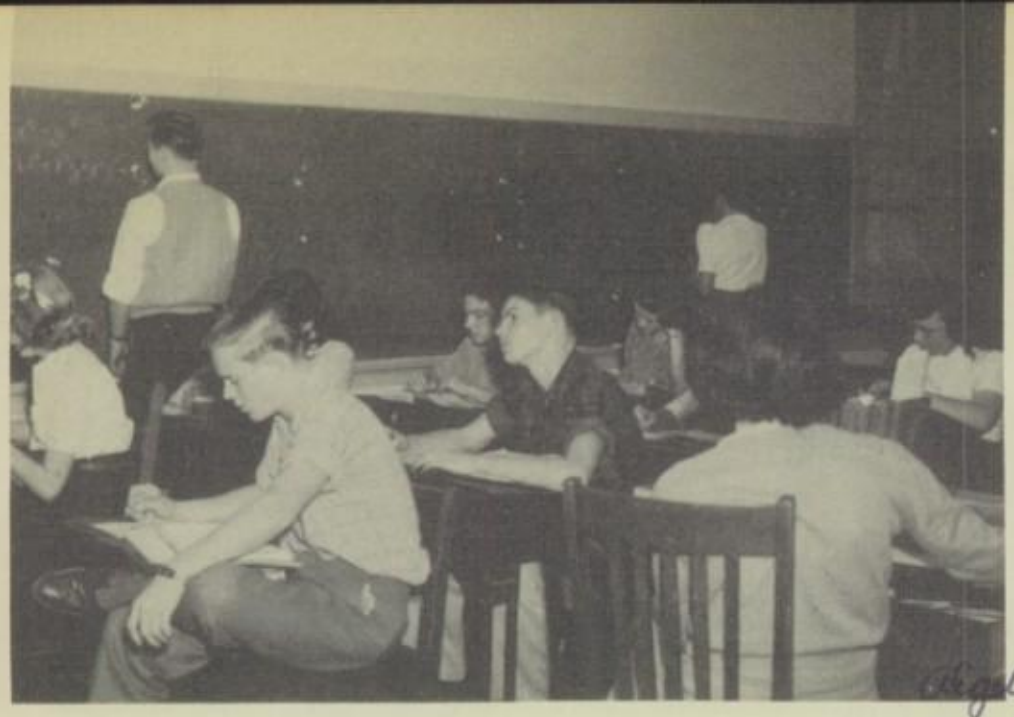
DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

In the words of Lin Yu Tang, "In a mature, full-grown democracy, peace and order depend on the decency and self-respect of the individual."

It would seem that the study of English, both literature and composition, could, if the emphasis be properly placed, the right values emphasized, do more than any other subject to develop that rightness of feeling, that harmony which alone can bring lasting peace to a distracted world.

Miss Nina Hill
Head of English Department





DEPARTMENT OF MATHEMATICS

Mathematics is vital in everyday life. Its relationship to engineering, science, and navigation gives it more importance today than ever before. Besides its use as a foundation subject, it serves to quicken the mind. Practical as well as highly specialized matters can be adjusted through the application of mathematics. It has come to be not merely an asset but a necessity.

DEPARTMENT OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES

The world has grown infinitely smaller. The geographical barriers of space and time no longer exist; now all nations of the globe are such close neighbors that we can no longer remain isolated even if we wish. We need to make sure of a two-way communication between all members of our "one world." "There are kind neighbors waiting to know us better. We need to know them."

DEPARTMENT OF SCIENCE

The fields of chemistry, physics, and biology afford new horizons as yet unexplored. Comparatively undeveloped vistas will be unrolled. We are intrigued by the promises of the new discoveries and inventions which will improve living standards. Life itself is prolonged by new skills in medicine and surgery. The test-tube, the crucible, the scalpel are symbols of man's endless battle against death.

When you try to imagine the future, remember that the world of tomorrow will contain the best of the things of which you dream.

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SCIENCE

The social studies form the core of education for tomorrow's citizen. Knowledge of the past, awareness of current problems and issues, devotion to democratic ideals, and capacity to advance such traditions—these are the educational goals in this field of instruction.

H. H. Hoyt
Head of History Department

DEPARTMENT OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

One of the main objectives of the Business Administration Department is to train pupils to take their place in the business world of tomorrow. To meet present emergencies and those of the future, the pupil must have a thorough knowledge of practical business training for personal use.

Business courses, such as salesmanship, commercial law, and office training, all train for citizenship. Every subject in the department helps to develop scholarship, personality, and character.

DEPARTMENT OF FINE ARTS

The world of tomorrow will demand the arts; it will need them more than ever. It is almost impossible to visualize a world without music, without art and drama, without literature. These will not be merely "fine arts"; they will have their commercial and social values, greater than ever. The radio has opened a new field for speech, for drama, for music. The radio alone can effectively reveal nation to nation—people to people. In the tumultuous postwar world, it would be wise to use all means to create among nations a beautiful and lasting understanding.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The industrial world must be prepared for the most important task of many decades—the rebuilding of a war-wrecked world, edifices ravaged by the ruthless enemies of mankind. To it will fall the task of renewing and strengthening commercial institutions—the trade and industry that have been halted by the war.

The industrial department of Austin High School, the first in the state of Texas, has long realized the importance of mechanical skill, which adds agility to the mind and deftness to the hands. It is helping to train future citizens for the tasks of reconstruction.

DEPARTMENT OF HOME ECONOMICS

The home economics department is teaching students to cope with tomorrow's problems. To keep emotionally stable and mentally fit, to re-establish bankrupt and disrupted homes, and to set up individual economical balance are some of the problems that must be met.

Broken, upset homes are a reality of today. Unified, well-ordered homes are an assurance of a unified, well-ordered nation.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The unsettling impact of war upon youth creates problems for which recreation is one of the sanest remedies. There are the youth at work, and the youth on the thresholds of work, restive under the pinching influences of war. Both groups are in need of wholesome outlets of play, sports, and fun.

Recreation is creative and, therefore, assumes greater importance when so much of destruction is at work. Physical education has taken on new meaning, fresh content, stronger emphasis.

The Austin High Maroons started off their season with a bang-up game, romping over the Lockhart Lions to the tune of 60-0. The Lions put up a brave defense at first, but they soon fell before the mighty Maroon charge. Orchids to H. K. Allen, No. 1 fullback, for his exciting 78-yard touchdown run (not to mention his other two tallies) and Johnnie B. Rogers, second string fullback, for his 75-yard touchdown run.

Our 1943 boys became the second Maroon team in history to defeat the Temple Wildcats. That first quarter was one to remember. Orchids to the whole team for some beautiful cooperative playing, although the actual scoring was done by Raymond Puckett and Jack Wisweli. We also noticed an up-and-coming fullback, fifteen-year-old Warren "Waddy" Collins, who scored both extra points. The final score was Austin 14, Temple 0.

In the third game of the season the Maroons received their first defeat when they met John Reagan of Houston, although the Maroons had been slightly favored. As a matter of fact, Reagan handed our boys their first defeat in seventeen consecutive games. The Reagan line, though light and inexperienced, fought viciously, and it was just a little too much for our boys to keep up with them. At the half the score was Reagan 6, Austin 0. During the third quarter Collins went over for our only touchdown and also kicked the extra point. Reagan scored again early in the fourth quarter, making the final score Austin 7, Reagan 12.

Having been beaten the week before by another Houston team, the Maroons determined to be the victors in their game with San Jacinto. Starting the scoring midway through the first quarter, Desmond Kidd received a 26-yard pass thrown by Rogers and went over for the first touchdown. Others who scored were Forrester (twice), Collins, Rogers, and Kidd again. The final score was Austin 40, San Jacinto 0.

After two weeks' rest the Maroons went into their first conference game in fairly good condition, Collins being the only player out. Although they defeated Laredo 27-0, the defeat was anything but spectacular. During the first period Lee Boyd, reserve wingback, scored the first touchdown, and Allen came through quickly for the second one. After that the boys had a little more trouble, and it wasn't until the third quarter, when Johnnie B. Rogers scored on a 35-yard run, that we crossed the Laredo goal line again. A pass from Rogers to Billy Bussey added the final tally.

Despite the fact that the odds were overwhelmingly against us in the conference game with Brackenridge, our boys came through with an amazing 13-6 victory. Teamwork, beautiful teamwork, did the trick. In the third quarter Allen intercepted a pass on the Austin 30 and went all the way for our first touchdown. The extra point was missed, and the score was tied 6-6. Four minutes before the end of the game Forrester intercepted a pass on our 37 and ran for a touchdown. That 63-yard run by Forrester, plus the extra point kicked by Collins, sewed the game up and made the final score 13-6. It looked as if we might win the District 15AA title if we could defeat Thomas Jeff the following week.

If ever there was a team that wanted to win, if there was a team that had the student body behind it a hundred per cent, the Maroon team that met Jefferson High in Alamo Stadium November 5, 1943, was it. Despite the fact that Jefferson was favored by much more than one touchdown, the final score was Austin 0, Jefferson 7. Although our boys played brilliantly on the defense during the first quarter, they were weak on the offense. They had a first down on the Jefferson 37, after some good running by Allen and Forrester. Allen started to fade for a pass, but the Jeff boys got through and forced him to punt. This was the closest they came to scoring. Jefferson had a good team plus Perry Samuels; the combination was just too much. This was the only conference game which the Maroons lost.

Returning to San Antonio, this time to play Tech, the boys came home happier. The game started with two touchdowns in the first four plays. First, Tech made a touchdown, and then Robin Forrester ran 88 yards for our first tally. Allen made the extra point, and the score was 7-6. After some nice playing by Procter and Munson, Forrester went over for another touchdown, and again Allen made the extra point. Another tally in the third quarter and a 50-yard trot by Rundell brought the score to 27-6. During the final period Forrester came through again, and the final score, 33-6, was well worth being proud of.

Our game with Corpus Christi was supposed to be a tough game, and the experts weren't at all sure that we would win. However, it turned out to be the greatest game of the season, as far as playing went. Forrester, playing his best, started things off early in the game by running 57 yards for a touchdown. Collins came through in the second period, taking the ball on five consecutive plays and going over on the fifth. Allen intercepted a pass for the final touchdown, closing the game with the score 19-0. It was our ground work which won this game, and the entire team should come in for a share of the praise. They played a "swell" game.

It is games such as the one with Kerrville that take real "guts." By now it was well known that Jeff's victory over Brackenridge had removed all hopes of an Austin championship. In spite of this our boys came through to defeat Tivy High of Kerrville 19-6. It was cold and muddy, but this didn't stop our boys. Allen ran 10 yards for our second score. Puckett came through for the final tally.

Although the Maroons didn't win the championship this year, they had a very successful season. They won eight of the ten games they played and came in second in the district race. Besides this, many of our boys were selected by various organizations for special mention. H. K. Allen won the trophy awarded by the Lion's Club to the most valuable man on the team. Jack Wiswell was the choice of the Associated Press for end on their All-State team and was selected best blocker and tackler by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was selected for the All-District team also, along with Ben Procter, Robin Forrester, and Carl McClendon.

Austin High can be proud of her 1943 football team.

B-Team football supplies the same sad story—wartime restrictions. Coach Curtis Beaty managed to secure opponents for only three games. This fact probably accounted for the loss of approximately thirty per cent of the original forty B-Team aspirants.

Still the team had a successful season, winning two of the three games played. One of these wins was chalked up against the University B-Squad. Raymond Puckett, an ex B-Team man by the end of the season, made half of the 12-7 score.

The suicide squad handed the Beatymen a 13-0 defeat. Because the B-Team line held too well, the suicide squad took to the air for their victory. One touchdown resulted from an intercepted pass by R. W. Cooksey, and the other from a pass over the goal line.

In their game with St. Ed's the B-Team scored two touchdowns and a safety. Frank Hall made one tally; Thomas Duncan converted; then came the safety and an intercepted pass which was lateraled to Giles Jackson and run over for another six points. St. Edward's score was made by a pass from Gifford Rich to Clifton Phillips, an Austin High ex. The final score read Austin B-Team 15 and St. Ed's 6.

Outstanding linemen were Dale Scott, end, and Jim Wharton, tackle. Glenn "Legs" Tooke was acting B-Team captain.

GOLD SHIRTS

With a total of 112 points to 8 for the opposition the Gold Shirts ended a very successful season. In addition to winning all seven of the season's games the Gold Shirts turned the tables on the junior high teams, winners in last year's encounters. Credit for these achievements can hardly be given to any individual, for teamwork was the outstanding advantage. Earl Lockhead, coach of the Gold Shirts, deserves a large share of that credit, as does Mr. Alvert Lessiner, who came over from Allan Junior High to assist in the training of the team. A. W. Brill did a fine job of quarterbacking the squad through the season; Wilson "Skyhook" Davis added many a yard with some nice runs; George Photo handled the kicking department; and Gordon "Sonny" Wyatt did a lot of "goal-crossing." Gene Parker, end, was the only non-backfield man to score. Kenneth Jackson, offensive center, also played a good defensive game.

The girls monopolized this year's Intramurals program. The fall program got off to a late start, but still included a fast volleyball season. The Booster I's came out on top.

The spring group of hockey, basketball, ping pong, softball, and archery is still in session. The winners will be awarded cups which will be re-awarded next year.

Archery is a new addition to the Intramural program this year. There will be no definite tournament set up this year, competition being left up to the individuals. Here's hoping archery will be a permanent addition.

Year-round interest in the Intramurals is furthered by such groups as the Intramural Managers and the GAA.

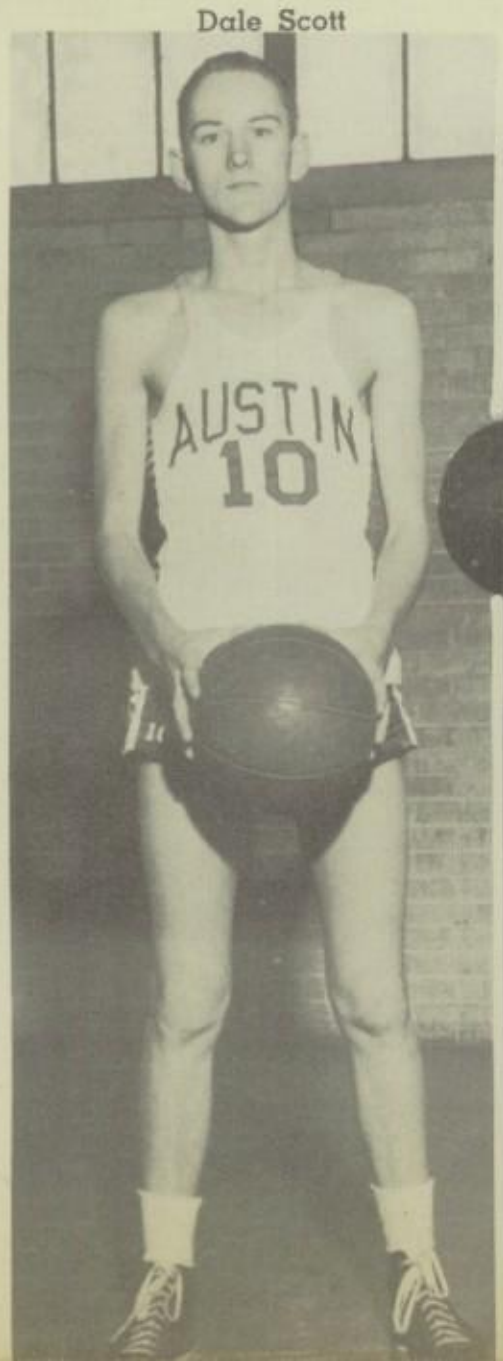
Preseason ratings placed th Maroon squad among the to four teams of District 15-AA ba ketball. The other three team Thomas Jefferson, Brackenridg and San Antonio Tech, decide among themselves that Aust wasn't going to win the distri title this year. This was the M roon basketeers' third year District 15-AA, and both the fir and second year had seen th Maroons cop the district crow All the weaker teams sided wi these three conspirators, so th season began with the Burge men being the most "gunne for" squad in the district.

The team which was out meet this challenge was mad up of Billy Eklund, who wo back from last season's Sta Finals team; Ben Procter, H. Allen, Bobby Joe Clark, wh were all on last season's thi team; George Salcher, from la year's fourth team; and Da Scott, who was from Universi Junior High. This gave Coac Tony Burger a six-man startin lineup, any five of which cou be counted on to turn in a swe performance.

Second team members we Malcolm Robinson, Billy Busse

Dale Scott



H. K. Allen

George Salcher

Glenn Tooke, and Billy Crumley.

The earlier district games were decidedly in the Maroons' favor. This was in a large measure due to the practice and training which our team had received through participation in the first half of the Major City League games. The chief competition in this league consisted of service teams. The Maroons played through this tournament without the loss of a single game.

The first district game was played with Waco and was also part of the annual paralysis benefit night at Gregory Gymnasium. Dale Scott, subbing at guard for H. K. Allen, who was ill with flu, was high scorer with 14 points. The Burgermen won 38-31.

The third conference game found the Maroons on the big end of a 48-29 tilt with the Brackenridge Eagles. Ben Procter, managing to return to his old form after a broken ankle bone, made high score of 11 points for the Maroons.

The fourth and sixth conference games were Maroon wins over Thomas Jefferson 40-31 and 43-35. The intervening conference game, the fifth, was played with an improved Waco Tiger team. The Tigers led the Maroons twice by two points and gave them a bad scare in the fourth quarter when they whittled the Maroon lead down to a 41-40 margin. Billy Eklund, high scorer for the Maroons with 17 points, helped push the gap a little wider to the final tally, 47-42.

Chester Webb, Freddie Miller, Roy McWilliams, T. A. Outlaw, Bobby Wiswell

The Burgermen scored their 16th straight victory over Brackenridge by a score of 43-36 in San Antonio, but the winning streak was broken by a return engagement with the Tigers in Waco. Austin was behind 19-5 at the end of the first quarter and trailed for the rest of the game. The game ended 55-46 with Bobby Joe Clark scoring 15 points for the losers. This game was played on a Friday morning, and that afternoon and night the Maroons played a double-header with Temple, winning both bouts 37-24 and 32-25.

The District 15-AA winners were determined in San Antonio by a double elimination tournament. The Maroons' luck missed in the drawing of places, for in order to win, the Maroons had to beat some of the toughest teams in the district. Thursday's games furnished little trouble, Austin defeating Brackenridge 36-23 and Jefferson 34-22. Friday saw a close 19-17 decision over San Antonio Tech in the morning and a 43-26 decision over Jefferson that afternoon. Brackenridge, by virtue of winning all of its other games, returned for another engagement with the Austin five in the Saturday finals. The Maroons polished off Brackenridge once more 35-25 to win the District 15-AA title for the third consecutive time. Total scores for the tournament ran close for Austin's top three players: Procter, 42; Eklund, 41; and Clark, 40.

The Maroons went into a Bi-District playoff with Kingsville for a best two out of three series. The Burgermen won the first two games, 51-25 and 48-26, thus earning themselves a berth in the State Tournament for the second consecutive year. This year we didn't fare so well in the State Meet. We lost the first game, 34-31, to Childress, who went on to take second place.

Out of the twenty-seven games played this season, we lost only two. Prospects for next year look even better. Three of the starting six, Procter, Salcher, and Scott, will return, and only two others out of the whole basketball ranks will be lost through graduation. Wtih this material and Coach Tony Burger, Austin High School can look forward to a splendid basketball lineup in 1945.

TRACK

Last year's track coach, Johnny Keel, moved on to "new horizons" this year (at the suggestion of the U. S. War Department). That gave Professor Edward Weems of the English Department, University of Texas, a big break—a chance to try to make a track squad out of seven "leftovers" from the last year's squad and about thirty-three other 4F's.

Coach Weems's new system certainly did wonders for the squad, though. His efforts were especially fruitful at the Goose Creek meet where the Maroon tracksters set four new records. For example, who, except Coach Weems, would ever have thought to put lighted firecrackers in Freddie Eaves's back pocket to urge him to pole vault 11'10"? Or who, except an English Prof, would have tried building bonfires under Desmond Kidd to help him make that quarter mile in 51.9 seconds? And certainly you know that the sprint relay team (Stevenson, Allan, Jesperson, and Borth) couldn't have made it in 44 seconds nor could Joe Billy Baumgardner, Robin Forrester, Raymond Puckett, and Bob Umstattd (the sprint medley team) have set their mark at 3.44:8 without the incentive Coach Weems gave them by putting ants in the proverbial part of their track suits. But, then, these are just special instances. Let's look at what the squad as a whole has done throughout the season.

First up for consideration is the Edison Triangular Track Meet held in San Antonio on Friday, March 19, 1943. As a result of eleven first places the Maroon cinder-packers piled up a total of 83 points in comparison with Brackenridge's 62 and Edison's 37. Of course, by the time the majority of our entrants finished their events, the spectators had long since gone home, but not without seeing the following Austin entrants place first: Freddie Eaves, high hurdles; Ed Borth, 100-yard dash; Bob Umstattd, 880-yard run;

Joe Billy Baumgardner (first heat) and Robin Forrester (second heat), 220-yard dash; Terry Sherman, mile; Freddie Eaves, pole vault (tie); Carl McClendon, discus; Howard Jesperson, Don Stevenson, Terrell Allen, Ed Borth, 440 relay; and Robin Forrester, Ed Borth, Desmond Kidd, Gene Rea, mile relay. Not bad!

The following week found the Maroons entered in the Alamo invitational track meet. Competition proved quite a bit stiffer, and our boys earned only a third place team rating. First place went to Thomas Jefferson, the defending champions, and the second to Brackenridge. The mile relay team (Baumgardner, Borth, Kidd, Rea) was Austin's only first place winner in the single events, but other points were picked up by the quarter mile relay team's second, Kidd's third in the 440, Nash's fourth in the broad jump, Forrester's fourth in the 220, Johnson's fourth in the 220 low hurdles, and Umstattd's third in the half-mile.

The Weemsmen nosed a notch nearer the top the following Saturday at the Texas Relays here in Austin, but still trailed the Jeffersonians. It was in this meet that Freddie Eaves made his first major bid to track fame by defeating favored Morse of Reagan and Valls of Laredo, who had beaten him the week before in San Antonio. Austin also accounted for two second places, 440 relay and mile relay, and a third in the medley relay.

Although Austin managed to secure only a second place tie with John Reagan in the Goose Creek Relays, there were seven records broken out of twelve events, and Austin accounted for four of these. The biggest upset of the meet was credited to Freddie Eaves. Freddie not only beat Billy Barfield of Conroe but also set a new record. Besides the record-breakers that were mentioned earlier in this section, Austin's other place winners were Borth third and Allen fourth in the 100-yard dash; Kidd second in the 440 (record set in the preliminaries); Baumgardner third in the 220; the relay first in the 880; and Umstattd second in the 880 run.

The Regional meet found the Maroons still trailing Thomas Jeff even though top honors were taken by Umstattd, mile; Borth, 440 and mile relay; and Eaves, the high hurdles and pole vault. The sprint relay took second; Wende fourth in shot-put; and Wharton fourth in high jump.

Fred Chandler

Freddie Eaves

After playing the role of "runner up" to Thomas Jefferson all season, the Maroons finally turned the tables at (I'm sure all Austin fans will agree) the right time. Yes, the state meet was a fine example of teamwork, for without any one of our entrants our 5/8 point lead "wouldn't have been." I'm sure you are all behind me when I give three big cheers for our 440 relay's first; our mile relay's second; Eaves's second in pole vault and third in high hurdles; Chandler's third in the high jump; Umstattd's third in the mile; Stevenson's fourth in the 220; and Borth's second and Kidd's fifth in the 440. These are the boys who put Austin high on top in the sports field by forming our State Champion Track Team.

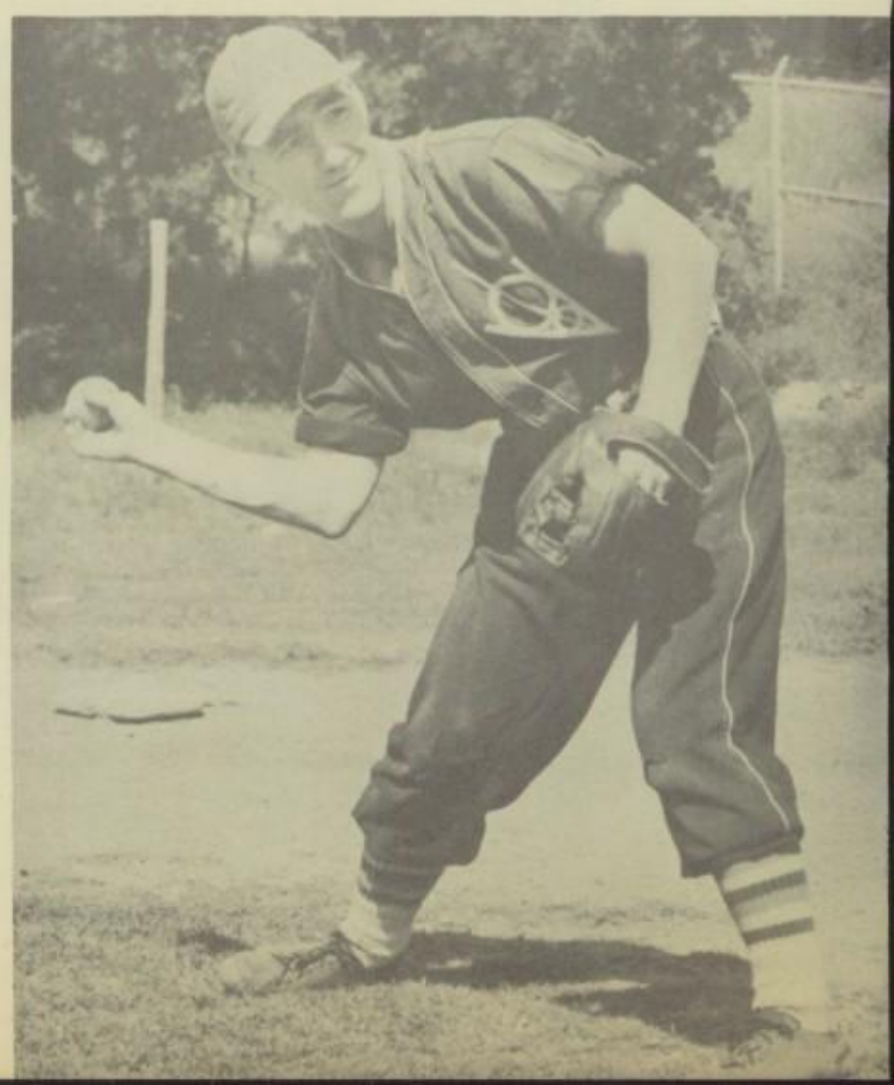
BASEBALL

Run, strike, ball, out, fly, hit, error — all common enough words, but grouped together, they spell one of America's favorite sports — baseball.

The "baseball horizon" for this year's prospective players was an unusually dark one. The pre-seasonal picture of gas and tire rationing and the fact that the Austin Maroon's usual league opponents had canceled their baseball activities for the year (because of circumstances which they could not control — rationing and the war in general) surely did not furnish an inspiration to do their utmost toward building an unbeatable Austin High team. Even with these bleak prospects the Austin nine played seven games, and happily records itself as being the winner in five of the seven games.

Samuel Alleman



Robert Kirshner

Chris Hubbard

Jim Stahl

Al Joe Hunt

Participating in the winning of these contests were Dan Watson, catcher; Bobby Joe Clark and Warren "Cubby" Bair, pitchers; Chris Hubbard and Jim Stahl, first basemen; Al Joe Hunt, second baseman; Robert "Spanky" Kirschner, third baseman; Eliseo Ortega, short stop; and Jordan Stanford, Vernon Kunschick, Vernon Schroeder, and Johnny Stanford, outfielders.

In the seven games played, the Maroon squadmen found themselves pitting their skills against the talents of the Silents for three games and encountering the Texas Reserves, the New Braunfels High team, Saint Edwards, and the Seven-Up team for one game each. The two games in which we ended on the small end were the ones with Seven-Up and the Texas Reserves, trailing the former 9-5 and the latter 7-0. The Seven-Up game had a flashy, fast finish. The score stood tied 5-5 at the end of the eighth inning, but a Seven-Up homer with two on base and a later run gave them the ball game. The Texas Reserves and the Maroons went into the fifth inning with no runs scored, but the Reserves brought in five runs in one inning. The Reserves furnished the stiffest competition, allowing the Maroons only three hits (Ortega, Schroeder, Kirschner). The most evenly matched game occurred with New Braunfels, even though they lost 2-8. Three wins over the Deaf boys and a 22-2 win over St. Ed's completed the season for Coach Tony Burger's squad.

Batting order was Hunt, Ortega, Kirschner, Watson, Stanford, Schroeder, Hubbard, Stahl, and either Clark or Bair.

Tennis in AHS comes nearer to being classified under "lost horizons" than it does to making part of a book whose theme is "new horizons." Our tennis squad was good, but it was due to individual merit rather than to competition from other AHS tennis prospects.

The squad was as follows: Lucille Fender and Mildred Baumert, girls' doubles; Ann O'Connell, girls' singles; James Allman and Alonzo Harmon, boys' doubles; Buddy Deason, boys' singles; and reserves Sarah Robbins, Katheryn Raatz, and John Eastburn. Miss Vivian Liddell coached the squad.

Austin High was fortunate in that the few who did take the trouble to go out for the squad were good. Our boys' singles and both doubles teams brought back top honors from the pre-regional meet. The girls' doubles also won the regional in San Antonio but lost to Corpus in the state tourney.

Laboring under the difficulties which they had, the tennis squad did wonders; but with the potential tennis players in AHS and the many accessible tennis courts there is no reason why we can't cop the tennis crown. So come on, you racquet-swingers, and try out for the squad. Nobody has ever won without trying!

The Student Council is one of Austin High's most important organizations — the student's voice in the school government. This group works hard to make everyone's school life pleasant. The year's presidents, who are elected by the student body, were Bobby Holland and Billy McKown. The rest of the officers are elected by the Council itself. Thanks to the Student Council, the 12A's have exemptions from final exams. They also sponsored the Penny Drive for their scholarship. They planted grass on the campus. They even started meeting after school, in addition to the advisory period meetings, in order to get more work done. Everyone looks up to the Student Council as an organization well worth while.

That I. H. S. H. S. J. on the Quill and Scroll pin, which its members are so proud to wear, stands for International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. That long name signifies much. It means that the students in Quill and Scroll have done some outstanding literary work, on either the Maroon or Comet. It means that they are in the upper third of their class scholastically. To the members it means a back-breaking (literally) initiation, and fun at picnics and banquets.

No emblem is more distinguishing than that of Quill and Scroll.

All the worry and cares of the literary and art staffs of the Comet this year were not in vain. The annual has more pages and more pictures than ever before. The difficulties were great — the OPA restrictions, late proofs, and urgent deadlines; but with the guidance of Mrs. Floride Speer Peterson and Miss Louise Manigault, sponsors, and Jane Dowell, editor-in-chief, the Comet got through.

Much time filing cards and pictures, making layouts, and working on write-ups and gray boards was spent in the art room or over tables in the Comet office. This staff has tried its best to make the Comet something for you to be proud of. New features and extra pages show originality and industry of staff members. They know the Comet they helped make is the biggest one ever, and they're hoping it's the best.

You probably know the members of the business staff. They're the ones who dashed up in the hall and said, "Buy your Comet from me!" They're the ones who approached your fathers and Austin's businessmen to solicit advertising. They're the boys and girls who spent long hours working on and laying out ads. They're the ones who had to be super salesmen and hard workers. Mr. Beaty and Peggy Doole get credit for keeping them going. Billie Bess Trenckmann won first prize for selling Comets; Helen Cooke, second; and Jack Schneider, third. Pat Mackey, Mary Jane Stripling, and Imogene Maultsby were winners of the ad-selling contest. To these, and to all other industrious members of the business staff, the Comet owes its existence.

The Maroon Staff is Austin High's contribution to the future newspaper world. Its editors do fine work in getting up our school paper every two weeks. Perhaps the hardest worker this year was Beverly Bolton, the editor. Credit for that especially interesting column, "Snooper," goes to a group of hard-working feature writers. The Maroon has rated high in the past few years as one of the outstanding high school newspapers in the country. At any time during the day, a passer-by could hear the clicking of typewriters as the staff busily strove to meet a deadline in the Maroon office. We look forward to more Maroons next year.

Strauss! Wagner! Mendelssohn! Beethoven! These are just a few of the great masters whose music is played in its true classical beauty by the Austin High School Orchestra.

Our orchestra was one of the pioneers of the state in the field of musical classics in high school. It has been rated state champion for the last three years in musical competition.

This year it was directed in its annual concert by its new conductor, Weldon Covington.

Hats off to these talented musicians who play for our entertainment!

From Boogie Woogie to Bach! Every type of music written is played by the one hundred sixty members of the Austin High School Band. These maroon-clad music-makers have set their goal to please the students, and we believe they have fulfilled their ambition.

Remember how it thrills you when you hear the band strike up the VICTORY MARCH at a pep rally or LOYAL FOREVER just before the kickoff. That's the kind of school spirit that is ever present when your band is in concert or on parade.

This versatile organization played its first piece of music thirteen years ago with eight members under the competent direction of its young conductor, Mr. Weldon Covington. Since that time it has grown into two bands of eighty members each. It is recognized not only in the South but also in the nation as one of the finest musical organizations of its kind.

From 1935 until 1941 the band attended every state and national band contest. During this time it was first at every state contest both in marching and in playing. By being first at the last four national contests it has established a record unexcelled anywhere in the South, and one that we of Austin High may be proud of. It has been awarded twenty-three trophies, and its individual members have received over nine hundred medals. So you can see that we have good reason for taking a pride in this superior group of students.

Soft strains of music from the Rock House are often heard during the first, second, and sixth periods. One of the prominent organizations of Austin High School, the Glee Club, has been reorganized this year. The enthusiasm and interest displayed by the students brought the total membership from ninety-eight during the first semester to one hundred eighty-two during the second semester. Part of this growth, interest, and success can be ascribed to the director of the group, Carl A. Fehr, who possesses an unusual amount of patience, good humor, and ability to work and make others work without complaint. Because of the progress of the Glee Club it was necessary to divide it into three groups for the spring semester, one boys' group and two girls' groups.

Besides working on fundamentals of music and singing in class, students devoted much time to perfecting songs and learning to appreciate, as well as to sing, all types of music. Outstanding events in the work of the Glee Clubs are the presentations of their fall and spring concerts, which are designated to appeal to the eye as well as to the ear.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

The Glee Clubs are generous in their musical contributions to the Community. The Girls' Glee Club has appeared very often in churches, civic clubs, service clubs. It has made numerous radio broadcasts and has appeared in various public gatherings. Not only have the girls sung but also have contributed their effort to the Mile-O-Dimes and similar projects.

The activities of the Glee Clubs, the Mixed Chorus, the Girls' Glee Club, and the Boys' Glee Club, have proven that these groups possess the essentials that are necessary to make such organizations the best, not only in the city but also in the state.

RADIO GUILD

"Are you backing the drive?" "Are you doing your part?" This kind of announcement is heard often over the radio. Yes, it is some member of the Radio Guild, as always, doing his part to keep other students notified about what is going on in High School. For several years this organization, under the direction of Miss Robbie Wells, has been steadily progressing until now it is one of the leading organizations of Austin High School. The Radio Guild this year has been giving broadcasts to the different advisories weekly. Working in this organization certainly trains the student who plans to use the radio in his future occupation.

RED DRAGONS

The smell of grease paint, actors nervously going over their lines, the last minute touches on grayed hair, and painted faces! Then the house lights dim, and in a rustle of applause, the curtain goes up for another Red Dragon play.

It is for this experience that the Red Dragons, directed by Miss Robbie Wells, work long hours. Their purpose is to develop in all students an appreciation for good drama, as well as to afford them entertainment. They fulfilled it well in two sharply contrasting plays, the comedy, "Best Foot Forward," and the serious drama, "Lost Horizons."

The well-ordered, finished performances were made possible through the earnest effort of all the Red Dragons. Their long hours of constant rehearsals and many Saturdays spent in painting sets and collecting props are the reasons for their bright successes. The actors, producers, electricians, and make-up men all make the Red Dragons what they are—the pride of Austin High.

DEBATE

The Austin High Debate Squad had its beginning in 1935 with Chase S. Winfrey as coach. Since then it has developed into a most progressive organization. Starting with the state championship in boys' debate in the spring of 1936, it has gleaned a long series of victories—another boys' state championship in 1939 with Robert Sneed and Houghton Brownlee, and a girls' state championship in 1942 with Stena Jean Caldwell and Grace Lester. Many are the other tourney trophies and winnings in the name of the squad. The squad deals not only in winnings, however, but in the making of young men and women; and some of the finest products of Austin High School have fought for their place on "the squad." Not only do the squad members debate and work, but they know fine fellowship and real friendships. In 1944 the squad has succeeded in winning the Austin High School Invitational Tournament in debate with members Ed Moore and Charles Roberts taking the boys' division and Lenore Rainey and Julia Knox winning the girls' division. The squad is proud of its history, record, and traditions; it is proud of having represented Austin High School in so many places capably and sincerely. To be a Debate Squad member in Austin High School is to step into the path of other fine students who have gone before.

SPEECH

"Will Taxation Curb Inflation?" "What Are Subsidies?" "What Foods Are Rationed, and Why?" These are just three of the fifty-five subjects our crack extemporaneous speakers had to be able to speak on in this year's extemp contests.

It required many hours of work, done mostly after school and at night, under the direction of Mr. Claire Montgomery, to make these energetic speakers ready to talk at a moment's notice on fifty-five subjects.

Wick Field, Mary Sue Hart, Imogene Maultsby and Robert McGarity were Extemporaneous Speech representatives from Austin High. Congratulations to these hard workers and their able coach.

SPEECH

Declamation takes ingenuity, careful interpretation, and long hours of work. We can be proud of our declaimers this year; they have fulfilled all the requirements. Senior entries in the Interscholastic Declamation Contest were Jean Dalby, Dorothy Hardin, George Gilbreath, and Bob Blaustone. Entered in the junior division were Mary Louise Pape, Sally Brown, and Bert Hooper. The success in the tournament can be attributed to the careful direction of Mrs. Sam Adkins.

The intramural debate, sponsored by Miss Janie Ruth Foster, was conducted this year with ninety-four students enrolled. Debates were held in the afternoons with members of the faculty acting as judges. The question discussed, the same one used in the interscholastic debate, was, RESOLVED: That the U. S. should join in reconstituting the League of Nations. In the boys' section first place went to Dick Milstead and Joe Painter; second place to Ed Moore and Charles Roberts. In the girls' division first place was won by Julia Knox and Charlotte Swindler; second place by Adrienne Shepard and Marian Ehlers.

Intramural Declamation seems ever to increase its number of participants. This year forty students entered in the competition. The finalists in senior declamation were Annette Phillips and George Gilbreath, first place winners, and Madge McBride and Walter Blincoe, second place winners. Jean Dalby won the junior declamation competition. All the participants worked hard under the direction of Mrs. Sam Adkins.

THE FUTURE

The Future Homemaker's Council is composed of the president and the vice-president of each class in the Home Economics Department. The members function as an executive group directing the activities and services of approximately 500 girls and boys. The Austin Chapter of the FHT is affiliated with the state and national organization. Some of the projects which they have sponsored or shared this year are the Service Roll of Honor, including the additional new board, cookies for the Service Men's Recreation Center, approximately 1000 cookies every other week, and the School Nutrition Program.

Rain or shine, cold or hot, here's one organization that is always on the spot. The Safety Patrol of Austin High School is always to be found on duty at 8:25 sharp every morning. Besides the usual directing of the Austin High School traffic, the Safety Patrol took on directing of traffic at the University of Texas football games this year. As usual they came through without a single accident. They also made some profit at the Austin High football games by maintaining a parking lot for the spectators.

The Safety Patrol, not to be outdone by the armed services, have their own ranks; namely, Chief, Captain, Lieutenant, Sergeant-Major, Sergeant, Corporal, and last, but not least, the privates. At the end of every semester the officers of the Safety Patrol elect two best members. These best members are awarded jackets for their exceptional work. This must be a very hard decision for the officers, since every member is very competent.

Each of the Booster Clubs found a project to do—and do well. The girls in Booster I backed the athletic intramurals of Austin High. They did a super job of this. Their A-Team won first, and their B-Team was runner-up in the volleyball tournament. Besides this, Booster I helped to put the Bond Drive over the top. Keep up the good work, Booster I!

Every patriotic drive or school activity of Austin High is backed, bolstered, and boosted over the top by the girls of Booster II. These girls gave an example of their backing ability by collecting trigonometry books for the Boys at Bergstrom Field. They also joined in with other clubs on a Book and Magazine Drive for the soldiers, which went over the set quota. Altogether this club upholds its name, "Booster," to the Nth degree.

Though the Girl Reserve organization is just in its fourth term of existence, it has risen rapidly to a place of importance among the service organizations of Austin High School. "To Find and Give the Best," motto of the club, has been faithfully and effectively carried out. Doing farm work to help in the present war emergency, carrying out a successful record drive for the Camp Swift Hospital, pitching in and helping paint and repair the Girl Reserve Center—all these are just a few of the things the Girl Reserves have done. You'd better keep an eye on the Girl Reserves, a club of sixty, representing—well, all of Austin High. They're going places!

Should high school boys and girls "go steady"? What should I wear to that party? What do you think about "Dutch treats"? Such questions as these are discussed by the Sans Soucis. Their purpose is to meet the problems about dates, etiquette, and fashions of the average high school girl.

After its organization in the fall of 1943, the membership became so large that it was necessary for the club to be divided into two groups. The club has sixteen charter members.

In the recent book drive, Sans Souci I together with Sans Souci II collected over one thousand books.

The members of Sans Souci I are also enthusiastic victory gardeners and have their own garden.

High school girls want to know how to have a good time and not only that, but when and where to have a good time. Interest in these questions stimulated such attendance in a club which proposed to answer them that it became necessary to divide the membership. The program of Sans Souci II has been a varied and active one. Typical of the speakers who appear from time to time, Mrs. Hugh Lynn led an especially interesting forum on "What Makes a Girl Popular?"

The barn dance in the gym on April Fool's Day, at which the members of their sister club were guests, gave the girls an opportunity to practice what they have learned.

But fun is not their only aim; their active participation in the book drive helped to boost the war effort. All worthy school activities receive the heartiest support of the club.

Named for the comic character, Etta Kett reminds you of "etiquette" for which the club members are striving. The purpose of this club is to study the "do and don't" of social usage. It was organized in the fall of 1943 by tenth grade girls.

This spring the Etta Ketts, sponsored by Miss Popham, gave their first affair, the Etta Kett Sweater Dance. The gym, decorated for the dance in purple and orange, the club's colors, was a gala scene. Watch this group of fun-loving girls.

Since 1925 the Girls' Athletic Association has striven to promote interest in sports among the girls of Austin High. The requirements of the club are that one be interested in and take an active part in sports.

The club works on a point basis. Points are given for such things as attending meetings, holding office, participating in sports, and officiating for sports. In the spring the member with the highest number of points receives a loving cup. All members having over 150 points receive bracelets.

One of the outstanding duties of this club is the sponsoring of intramural tournaments. Volleyball, basketball, ping pong, softball, and archery are the sport highlights this year. Because of the war the customary awards and loving cups may not be given. However, this will not affect participation in the various activities.

The G.A.A. is always ready to serve the school in any way. Helping in national drives is, also, a part of the club's duty.

"Designing Women" are the girls of the Margaretta Byers Club. In 1939 the charter members wrote to Miss Margaretta Byers, author, and asked for permission to use her book DESIGNING WOMEN as a foundation for study.

Members of the club not only go in for the study of pleasing personalities and the latest fashion but they also give their time and effort to help put over the various drives sponsored by the school. They contributed to the March-of-Dimes and helped bring in books and magazines for the Red Cross. The girls of the Margaretta Byers Club stand ready to assist the school in any way that they can.

Named after a nurse who lost her life in World War I, the Edith Cavell Club has patterned itself to do war work as Edith Cavell did. This club was formerly Margaretta Byers II. They help in school drives by stamping clothes at Red Cross Centers and stringing buttons for soldiers' kits. Social entertainments of this club are styled after patriotic schemes and are designed to help the war effort.

Syncopating Sammie or melodious Wayne King starts the fun and frolic every club day for the many members of the Modern Dance Club. During this hour, ballroom etiquette is observed for the benefit of all at future social functions. This is just one of the many new-formed clubs, but we are sure, because of its nature, it will live and grow in dear old Austin High for many a year.

Members of the Scientific Research Club, sponsored by Miss Janie Ruth Foster, have been active this year in varied experiments, especially in the field of applied chemistry. They have studied plant growth, minerals, photography, and electricity. These budding Pasteurs have found it worth while to be chemistry-conscious. Who knows what permanent benefits to mankind may come about as the result of even random experimentation?

An active member of the Junior Academy of Science, the Astronomy Club, which has been in existence only two semesters, has made an excellent record in all school affairs and drives. Frequent visits to gaze at the heavens from the observatory at the University of Texas add to this group just the right amount of spice. It is also interesting to know that this club is the only club that has the legitimate, exclusive right to star gaze on Mt. Bonnell.

MATH

2 x 2 — 4. Yes, everyone knows this, but the people in Mrs. Wiley's Math Club know more. This club is made up of students who like math and who enjoy working the hard math riddles that would "stump" most students. At their club meetings they solve problems, work riddles, and play math games. Join us for more fun!

The thirty members of the Sodalitas Latina of 1943-44 carry the torch of classical learning into many fields. On the field of patriotism the torch burned bright (although the lights were low) at the dance sponsored by the Latin Club, for which the admission was the purchase of a war stamp. On the same field can be seen a pile of books and magazines contributed by this organization to the schoolwide book drive. The members have also taken an active part in intramural activities both athletic and literary. During the celebration of Latin Week, this body attempted to set the school afire with its ancient but ever-burning flambeau. A highlight in the life of the aforementioned organization is the program which it presented to the University Classical Language Club in Dr. Battle's library on the top floor of the tower. Here, with the atmosphere of higher classical learning all about it, the Sodalitas Latina inwardly pledged anew to tend its torch carefully and at length to hand it, flaming triumphantly, to future generations.

The emblem, a ship in full sail, and the motto "Adelante," or "Forward!" show something of the spirit of La Tertulia. This group of students, sponsored by Miss Jane LaGrone, is interested in Spanish speech and customs. They have spent a busy year furthering their knowledge of Spanish America by singing, dancing, playing games, and speaking the language of those countries during their club meetings. But it has not all been in fun; for the members realize that, in order to make the Good Neighbor Policy effective, they must have an understanding of the countries to the south.

The oldest of Austin High's Spanish clubs, El Arco Iris, has, again this year, given to its members a new insight on Latin America. The club studies and tries to adopt, during its meetings, the ways and speech of the different countries of South and Central America. One of the outstanding achievements of the year, according to Miss Mary Alice Porter, sponsor, was its reaffiliation with the Pan American Forum, a national organization whose purpose it is to establish friendly relations and lasting peace between the twenty-one republics of America.

The Community Service is a club that lives up to its name! This year it has been of service to its school and community by helping with rationing registration, spreading material on nutrition for the city and government nutrition boards, and making pies and cakes for sale to students and teachers. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Florence E. Richey, the club spent this, its first year, setting a standard which the succeeding Community Service clubs can be proud of.

Florence Ralston Brooke is a name unforgettable in Austin High. A new club, dedicated to her memory, is following in the footsteps of the beloved teacher by doing the things she so loved to do. Since the club's purpose is to back all worthwhile school activities, it sponsored the benefit magician show and won the Red Cross book drive! Most important, it established a Florence Ralston Brooke Scholarship. Congratulations to the FRB.

The future of this nation depends upon the faith of its youth. Faith in their capacity to improve society, faith in their nation and its tested principles of democracy—this is the strength of the American youth. Undismayed by the strife of an evil day, they ever climb and search the horizon for a new world.
